Dear Sir

The enclosed drawings represent the crême de la crême of my collection. Two of the vessels resemble Charcoal burners but as they have no ventilating holes through the stem, I scarcely think they can have been used for that purpose.

The drawings are of the actual size of the objects. One of the bronze rings is rather interesting as a piece of oxydised iron, probably a part of another ~~object~~ ornament is still attached to it. —

There are besides 3 double Arms and 2 of Willow-leaf-pattern, as Prof. Rolleston called them. — I will take

£ 20 for everything. —

I have also quite a unique collection of toys, that is, very minute vessels, some only one inch high, that I found with childrens cinerary Urns.

Should you wish to buy my whole Collection of 23 Cinerary Urns, some very large, 100 other vessels — and 22 toys — altogether 145 Vessels, including those of which I send drawings to-day, I will sell the lot for £ 60. — I know, if you were to allow me to send them on approval, you would be very pleased with them. — Hoping to hear from you soon,

I am,

Dear Sir

Yours truly

E. Clement.

These vessels could not have been used as Charcoal burners, as the ventilating hole through the stem is absent.
